MILLENNIUM MEMO

It's been another eventful year in Palomar West, but then aren't they all. Here are just a few of 2023's many Palomar highlights:

- The most noteworthy event: Debbie Bartlett's retirement, after 19 years of service—longer than most of you have lived here. Debbie is a tough act to follow, but we're sure that Lisa is up to the task, as she starts her 19-year term.
- March 18 was the 20th Anniversary of Palomar's conversion to non-profit ownership—and its rescue from the Porath Partnership, the previous owners. Debbie started just a year later.
- Stacey & the folks at SPARC continued to sponsor seminars, Band & Bingo, free tax prep, exercise classes...what a great partner for Palomar.
- 100% of you returned your Income Certs, which might be my favorite highlight.
- 28 homes sold during the year, at an average price of about $325K—down somewhat from 2022, but your home remains a very valuable asset.
- Many of you earned Kudos for your service to your neighbors. All of our Kudo-winners are special, but those of you who donated toys to children in need might be a bit more special. Palomar has some amazing residents!

Speaking of which...this month's Kudo goes to Susan Balog, for taking over the Librarian position. That's not an easy job, so thanks to Susan for stepping up.

- Finally, we owe a Kudo to Felipe & his team for the job they do maintaining Palomar West's 74 lush acres, hillsides and facilities...and for installing the Christmas decorations. Thanks to them, you live in a beautiful community.

On that note, please welcome Abraham Moreno, the most recent addition to the Maintenance Staff. Abraham "brings skills, motivation and is very hands on," but then Abraham is an ex-Marine, so none of that is surprising.

Just another great year in Palomar!

On a Personal Note

For my part, 2023 was big in a couple ways. We gained 2 more grandchildren, and...I turned 70. Ouch!

My buddy and I went out for drinks to celebrate, as he is also 70. I saw two men across the bar, and said: "That'll be us in 10 years." His reply: "That's a mirror, you dummy!"

Have a fun & exciting 2024!

From the PEW Residents Board

The board would like to thank all the residents who so generously provided toys for the Toys 4 Tots campaign and food for the Annual Food Drive. Both drives have exceeded last year's donations and demonstrate what an exceptional community PEW and its residents are.

Another example of how our community works in unison to improve our park is the little marvel the Garden Club has created at the top end of Viewpoint. If you haven't yet visited to see the new 'Community Garden' we suggest you either stroll or drive past it and appreciate the work and dedication of the garden club members and garden plot owners.

Sadly, the board accepted resignations from two of our members last month. Fortunately, we have had two volunteers who have agreed to serve for the remainder of the fiscal year. We are pleased to welcome Jesse Nieto and Larry Jones to the board.

In advance of our annual membership drive and in support of the PEW residents, the PEWRA board has created a public statement which we feel defines the vision and mission of the board and our community members. We hope this statement will encourage all residents to enroll as members of PEWRA. The fee for 2024 is $10 and this membership ensures that resident members have a vote per household on any matters that require the community's input as well as support various projects and activities.

Vision

We envision a community of neighbors working together in private and voluntary associations to achieve a higher quality of life and increasing property values. We envision a community that is considered by residents and non-residents alike to be a desirable place in which to live and thrive.

Mission Statement

The mission of the board members of PEWRA is to uphold and enhance the lives of our residents and value of our community.

We, the board members, will consistently abide by our Rules & regulations, Bylaws, restrictions, and policies to ensure we are always taking a fair, ethical and objective approach in representing the interest of all homeowners. PEW should remain a safe and desirable place to live for all residents. The Association will, at all times, provide a forum for discussing the views and concerns of all members. The board will continue to work together to provide ethical and fiscally responsible solutions that promote a sense of community, enhance our property values, and preserve the community into the future.

Board Objectives:

- Encourage collaborative and diverse participation that includes an involved membership.
- Utilize the experience of The Board members to make and implement responsible decisions and to be good stewards regarding the use of funds and assets belonging to the Association.

- Uphold the rules & regulations, bylaws and policies of the community and association by taking a fair, ethical, and objective approach in representing the interest of all homeowners.
- Treat every issue which comes before the Board with respect. Resolutions and responses will be clearly communicated to affected parties.
- Communicate with homeowners in a timely manner through appropriate mediums and facilitate opportunities for activities and committees promoting a close-knit neighborly community that works together for the good of all.
- Be forever mindful of and preserve the Association's Vision, Mission, and values.

Member Objectives:

- Good Neighbors First. There is no better substitute for resolving community issues as neighbors.
- Volunteerism. We highly value participation in the Association that extends beyond the normal commitment(s) of being a member/resident.
- Property Maintenance. Property owners/residents will maintain their respective property in accordance with our rules & regulations, bylaws and policies of the community and association that enhances the community.
- Common Good. We will evaluate all issues on their merit to the Association, our Mission Vision, and Values, and not with regard to any particular interest/person/group.

A reminder, there will be no PEWRA meeting in January due to the holiday.

The next meeting will be February 6, 2024, and will be our quarterly General meeting. We are looking forward to our guest speaker, Stacey Kazmierski, the representative from SPARC.

With the beginning of a new year, the board wishes everyone a year of tranquility and happiness.

Jo Gehring

Garden Club

Winter is here but we are still enjoying some great weather. The cool season crops in the community garden are loving it and all the citrus around our park looks like it's ready to pick.

Community Garden – If you haven't seen the community garden yet, please stop by and you will be impressed and amazed!!!! Diligent gardeners have done an outstanding job of creating a place that the entire community can be proud of. Well done!!! The shed is now complete, all of the plots are taken, and there is discussion about the possibility of expanding the garden area at some point in the future.

December 21, Thursday – the winter solstice. We had a potluck at the community garden to celebrate the solstice and the success of the community garden. The garden shed was completed thanks to the hard work of Gary Larson and assistance from Bob Rosenberg. Gary not only donated his time but some lumber as well. We had additional materials donated from Michael and Bert. Thank you everyone who helped make the much needed shed a reality.

The Virginia Opossum – they live among us!!! This rather homely nocturnal, and beneficial creature should get more respect. Having them around can clear an area of snails, insects, and small rodents. They breed a couple of times each year and can have as many as 15 offspring! Garlic, peppermint, ammonia and moth balls are good deterrents if you wish to have an opossum free garden. Owls, hawks, and coyotes are their predators.

The refreshments were delicious!! Thank you, Mary Wallace, for going above and beyond with quite an assortment of goodies and beverages. We couldn't have asked for better decorations in the holiday theme, down to the napkins. Thanks again Mary!

Our next meeting will be Monday January 8 at 2pm – Herb Fields will be the speaker covering gardening tips and tricks. He is entertaining, knowledgeable, and supportive of our efforts.

Have a great rest of 2023 and prosperous 2024,

GARDEN TO-DO LIST FOR JANUARY 2024

- Now is the time to order seed and nursery catalogs.
- Check house plants for mites, mealybugs, and scale
- Cut back on feeding house plants.
- Begin planting seeds of warm-season crops indoors including squash, peppers, tomatoes, eggplant and lettuce.
- Direct-sow cooler vegies like carrots, onions, spinach, radish and peas.
- Plant cool season annuals. Try Petunias, Pansies, Verbena, or Dianthus.

FEATURED PLANT: DIANTHUS

The Dianthus spp. is a genus containing over 300 species and hundreds of hybrid varieties in the family Caryophyllaceae. Dianthus flowers, also known as Carnations, Sweet William and Pinks are treasured for their grass like, blue-green foliage and abundant starry flowers that are often spicily fragrant. Varieties range from tiny creeping groundcovers to 30-inch-tall flowers like the familiar carnation which produces larger full blooms often used in cut flower arrangements. Pinks and sweet William, are a great fit for ornamental spaces. Most Dianthus are perennial plants and are now known for their longevity in the garden and are most often used in borders, or potted displays. While similar in appearance and flowers, different species of dianthus have varied growth habits and requirements. The cooler months of spring and fall are the ideal time for planting. Depending on the type, space dianthus about 6 to 18 inches apart. Dianthus performs best in full sun, in neutral to alkaline, well-drained soils. Light shade is appreciated in extremely hot climates. If you spread mulch, opt for a thin layer, since air circulation is essential to the health of the stem. To encourage dianthus to keep blooming, feed it a balanced fertilizer every six to eight weeks during the growing season. Deadhead a dianthus after the flower heads have started to wilt and drop their petals. This will promote repeat bloom but it will also prevent the production of seeds. For biennial varieties like Sweet William, Dianthus barbatus, allow to self-seed in the garden to ensure its return the following year. Propagate dianthus varieties by seeds. The perennial types are more commonly produced by terminal cuttings taken and rooted in early summer. Divide every few years in early spring or when the centers start to die out. Dianthus won't tolerate overly wet soil. Wait until soil is dry to prevent fungal root rot. Overwatering can cause the leaves to turn yellow. Dianthus plants rarely have problems with common garden diseases or insects. Still, weekly monitoring for slugs or aphids may be needed.

Before you start planting, be aware that some varieties of dianthus aren't safe for pets. Dianthus caryophyllus better known as carnations are toxic to dogs and cats. Dianthus deltoids or maiden pinks are also toxic to these animals.

Christmas Toy Drive

Pat and Bob Taylor want to thank all the PEW residents for their generous donations of toys . This was the best year ever for our park. A special thanks goes to Maureen Gates (sp. 95) for all her efforts to bring toys donated from the La Paloma Book Club and the 1st Congregational Church of Escondido.

We know there will be many, many smiling faces again this year and we want to wish everyone a very Happy New Year.

Bob & Pat

Social Connection

December 9th was our Home For The Holidays potluck at the clubhouse. What a fabulous turnout and the diverse food offerings ran the gamut! Turkey and ham were provided, thank you Cathy for cooking them, but the stars of the show were the tasty sides not to mention the desserts. We had a happy 50/50 jackpot winner and everyone was a winner who brought a white elephant gift to exchange. Thanks Santa Dan and Simon for facilitating the gift exchange.

Everyone entering the room was wowed by the festive decorations. Many thanks to Herlinda for all the hard work and hours she dedicates to each event, ensuring everything in the room is on point. Thanks again Herlinda for the tireless commitment.

Attending this event and many others in the past, I have felt so overwhelmed with my chosen family here at PEW. They never cease to amaze me with their inclusiveness and warmth. I also pondered how lucky we are to be in such a peaceful and giving community. With all the turbulence happening around the world we can be grateful for our corner of paradise.

As we end this year, let us pause and reflect on all the delight we have found in our friends here at PEW. It's a great time of year to reflect and extend kindness wherever we can. Your one simple act of kindness will make someone's day and that action is contagious.

Take care of yourself and the ones around you,
Merlin Chancellor
